TRY THIS IF HAIR STARTS FALLING

Some Good Advice for Those Threatened With Baldness.

At this season of the year many people find their hair coming out at an alarming rate and often fear baldness. This may very easily be the ultimate result if proper scalp treatment is not taken at once. All excessive loss of hair can be almost immediately stopped by the use twice daily of a little Parisian Sage which invigorates and nourishes the slowly dying hair roots into a renewal of healthy normal action. New hair quickly grows on the thin spots, old hair stops falling and the difference is apparent in a few days by the very look of the hair itself taking on new life, lustre and beauty. Parisian Sage can be obtained from F. D. Pierce or any good druggist. It is not expensive.

The City's Christmas Tree.

A woman, they say, thought of the first community Christmas tree. It was erected in Madison square, in New York city. There was something stimulating, something highly infectious, in the idea, for now cities and villages all over America are erecting Christmas trees in their public squares, says the Delineator.

They are wonderful things, these community Christmas trees, not for their beauty alone, but for the spirit they arouse in the towns where they are found. They are the village center for Christmas joy. Christmas services, without sectarian barriers, are held about them. Christmas carols are sung at their bases. None so poor or so world worn or so hurried but he must see, must thrill with friend and stranger alike to this tree for all the world. It brings the child in the manger to every soul in the community.

The Christmas tree is essentially a symbol of the north and of the home. Yet it is inextricably blended in our minds with our faith, which is desert bred.

Most of the great religions of the world were born of some solitary spirit who sought the lonely sand waste and there wrought out that which made the desert of his soul "blossom like the rose." He who gave us the great faith went again and again out into the burning yellow barrens, where the tender, brooding, violet sky awaited him; where all the desert world, so fearful in its undomestic, so overwhelming in its solitude, found focused in him all its pulsing radiance, as though in him were centered the heartbeat of the universe. In the verdureless, sand driven, star hung desert the Babe with his listening ear heard, with his dreaming eyes saw, with his throbbing heart felt, the faith that turned men's faces forever from the clod to the cross.

Why, then, should the fir tree stand in our public square, sign and symbol of that desert birth? Whatever its physical history, why should breathless thousands, hungry of body or of spirit, looking on the great pine tree hung with electric bulbs, backed by skyscrapers, topped by smoke, find in its incoherent beauty the urge set in motion by the desert bred Babe?

One would have said of the home Christmas trees that, after all, it was the gifts that gave them their glamour. There are no gifts on the community Christmas trees, yet thousands and thousands of us look on them with the thrill that belongs to faith alone. One wonders why.

Perhaps this is the reason: The community Christmas tree symbolizes that which the home Christmas tree does not. It symbolizes Christmas for all the world. It means that the dawn of real brotherhood is dawning our horizon. It means, and particularly this Christmas it means, that in spite of poverty and bloodshed, in spite of greed and despair, there are in increasing numbers in the world those who would share with the world all that sacred beauty and hope that are the individual's holy of holies, the most difficult of all one's spiritual riches to share.

It is the symbol of green forest beauty, of the druid's wild faith, of the Teuton's largess and always of giving. Not strange that forever in our minds it should be inseparable from the birthday of him who gave supremacy; not strange, but utterly soul satisfying, that finally we have joined our hands and placed the Christmas tree in the market place—symbol that at last, man may give himself to man.

"God bless us!" said Tiny Tim on Christmas day. "God bless us every one!" Dickens dreamed of a Christmas festival that should belong to all. His Tiny Tim, lame and wistful, might have foreshadowed the joy starved world that now crowds around the market place tree, saying as he said, "God bless us every one!"

THE ISLE.

There was a little lawn islet
By anemone and violet.
Like mosaic paven.
And its roof was flowers and leaves,
Which the summer's breath enweaves,
Where no sun nor showers nor breeze
Pierce the pines and tallest trees,
Each a gem engraven.
Girt by many an azure wave
With which the clouds and mountains pave
A lake's blue chasm.

—Shelley.

EAT A SQUARE MEAL AND NOT FEAR INDIGESTION

There are hundreds of people in Barton who were not the least bit surprised when they read in the Monitor F. D. Pierce is selling Mi-o-na on a guarantee to refund the money in case it did not relieve. This remarkable dyspepsia remedy will relieve the worst case of indigestion, headache, dizziness, or the general played out condition that afflicts every one who suffers with stomach trouble. Mi-o-na does not simply relieve, it aims to cure.

F. D. Pierce can tell you of many well known people in this city whom this remedy has restored to health, often after they have tried many other methods of treatment with little or no benefit. No other dyspepsia remedy has made so large a percentage of cures as Mi-o-na. It is so large that F. D. Pierce stands ready to refund the price to any customer whom it does not help.

The best kind of advertising is the praise of a pleased customer, and there are hundreds in Barton today praising Mi-o-na because it does what it is advertised to do. A few months ago they could eat nothing without wondering what the result would be. Since using Mi-o-na, they eat what they want and when they want with no fear of suffering.

Good News for the Sugar Makers

News that ought to cause every one with a sugar place to look over his outfit and be prepared to make every pound that it is possible for him to produce.

We will contract to take all your marketable sugar of the coming season's crop at 10 cents a pound

This is the first time in the history of our business that we have been able to make such an offer and it looks mighty good for any man who is so fortunate as to have a sugar place on his farm. It does away with the scare that the tariff was to injure our sugar industry, in fact, it is more than likely that the old tariff will be in force before there is another pound of sugar made.

Now what about the new goods you need?

It looks now as though the great problem for us will be to get out all the Monarch Sugar Tools our customers will want, we certainly will be unable to do so if the most of them wait until late before ordering. If you would like to contract your crop, let us know.

If you want some of our goods let us know.

We would like to go and see every man but can't do it.

Call us by phone 277-2 or write and we will take the matter up with you at once.
